

Please don't change this law. Right now, Indiana has one of the toughest Do Not Call laws in the country. Businesses can't telemarket to customers unless they get their expressed consent. Residents have until Wednesday to tell the FCC what you think.